

Relax. It's Legal.

Whether you're buying a home or you work in the mortgage and lending business, you can't rest easy until that last piece of paperwork is signed and delivered. A typical lending process requires numerous face-to-face visits, six-to-twenty phone calls, four-to-eight salaried hours, an upwards of fourteen days to complete and piles of paperwork. So why not minimize the amount of time and money spent originating and processing loan applications by using the latest digital signature and document management technology? DocuTouch provides a secure online environment for creating, collaborating, storing and digitally signing mortgage lending documents. Better yet, the E-SIGN Act ensures that it's all legally binding. So relax, and start saving time and money today! For more information about mortgage lending and other document processing solutions, visit: www.docutouch.com
